

GRADUATION

THE UNIVERSITY

At Federation University Australia our purpose is to transform lives and enhance communities.

The most powerful way we achieve this is through our graduates.

Using the skills, knowledge and passion you've gained through your study, you are equipped to make real impact – in your career, in your community and beyond.

On behalf of the entire Federation University Australia community, it is an honour to congratulate you on reaching this significant milestone.

Graduation is not just a celebration of your academic achievement – it is a reflection of your adaptability, dedication and determination.

Your journey to this moment has required focus, hard work and a passion for learning – qualities that will continue to serve you in whatever comes next.

As you now move into that next exciting chapter, I encourage you to carry the values of Federation University – excellence, inclusion, innovation, empowerment and collaboration – into all that you do.

Whether you're continuing your studies, beginning or furthering your career, or contributing to our community in other ways: remember that you are now part of a global network of Federation alumni who are making a real difference in the world.

Congratulations once again. We are so proud of all you have accomplished – and we can't wait to see what you achieve next.

Dr Philip Freier
Chancellor

Congratulations on your graduation from Federation University Australia.

This is a moment of immense pride – for you, your families and for all of us who have had the privilege to support you on your journey.

At Federation, we are proud to transform lives and enhance communities through education.

As a graduate, you now carry forward that mission and potential. We are confident and eager to see how you will apply your talents to make a meaningful impact in your chosen field, in your community, and beyond.

As you take this next step, I encourage you to take with you not only the knowledge and skills you have gained, but also the connections and friendships you have made along the way.

This is one of many chapters in your journey of lifelong learning. As this chapter closes, a new one begins – one filled with opportunity, growth and the chance to shape your future, and that of others.

Wherever your journey takes you, know that you will always be part of the Federation family.

Congratulations on this outstanding achievement.

Federation University's Honorary Awards

Honorary awards recognise people who have made an outstanding contribution to the University, our regions or their field of expertise. Conferment of an award is determined by the University Council.

Honorary Doctorate

This award recognises those who fit at least one of the following criteria:

- They have shown exceptional service to the University, usually over a sustained period of time.
- They have made a distinguished contribution to a relevant discipline or branch of learning.
- They have an exceptional record of service to professional and/or public life.

Emeritus Professor

This award recognises retiring and (in exceptional circumstances) resigning professors who have made a distinguishing contribution and given outstanding service to the University over a number of years.

Distinguished Professor

This award, launched in 2024, recognises Federation University Professors who have attained international distinction for their exceptional and continuous contributions to research, scholarship, and/or engagement and innovation.

Fellow of the University

This award recognises those who fit at least one of the following criteria:

- They have served as an exemplar to staff and students of the University through demonstrating leadership and initiative or distinction in a field of endeavour.
- They have rendered sustained and distinguished service to the University.
- They have a professional standing within the community.

Graduate Research School

Doctor of Philosophy

Achhardeep Kaur

Title: Data-efficient and reliable deep learning for fake video detection

Abstract: This thesis develops an efficient, generalisable, and adversarially robust deepfake detection system. It introduces three frameworks, TRIM, ADAPT, and R3D, to improve reliability, cross-domain performance, and forensic resilience in real-world settings.

Doctor of Philosophy

Alexander Prins

Title: Learning a coast: a phenomenology of coastal enskilmnt pedagogy

Abstract: 'Learning a coast: A phenomenology of coastal enskilmnt pedagogy' unveils the hidden learning journey of six Australians living on the coast between Phillip Island and Port Albert in Gippsland, Victoria.

Doctor of Philosophy

Anjali Rana

Title: Preparing future teachers to teach sexuality education in Australia

Abstract: This study, using critical discourse analysis, investigates how future teachers are being prepared to teach sexuality education in Australian tertiary education institutions.

Doctor of Philosophy

Chole Waddel

Title: Understanding the impact of discrimination on ageing well in Australia.

Abstract: Informed by the older general population and Holocaust survivors, Chloe's mixed-methods research produced a definition of 'ageing well', deepening our understanding of what it means to age well in Australia.

Doctor of Philosophy

Donna McIntyre

Title: The Necrobiome

Abstract: The investigation of how bacteria, insects, and chemical signals interact during decomposition, uncovering complex processes and offering new perspectives to refine forensic methods for estimating time since death.

Doctor of Philosophy

Hafiz Ahmad

Title: The influence of probiotics on infection susceptibility and developmental trajectories in children: A Double-Blind Randomised Trial

Abstract: A randomised controlled trial was undertaken, demonstrating multi-strain probiotic supplementation among children attending early childhood education positively reduces gastrointestinal infection, while cognitive development is significantly impacted by gender and diet.

Doctor of Philosophy

Jane Joseph

Title: Employees' adaptive technology use behaviours and their implications in the post-pandemic online work environments: a mixed-method study.

Abstract: This study examines employees' adaptive technology use behaviours in post-pandemic online workplaces through an ambidexterity lens, highlighting its impact on performance outcomes and guiding organisational digital adoption strategies.

Doctor of Philosophy

Jordyn Presley

Title: Into the Messiness of Relational Autosomatography

Abstract: Through creative and critical practice, Jordyn's thesis proposes a model for the ethical navigation of the 'messiness' inherent in representing shared and relational experiences of disability and illness.

Doctor of Philosophy
Kim Percy

Title: Visualising the Invisible: An investigation into dyslexia through the lens of visual art

Abstract: This research explores how dyslexia shapes visual art practice, linking dyslexic traits with creative processes through practice-based methodology, photography, painting and digital art to illuminate neurodivergent expression in contemporary art.

Doctor of Philosophy
Kylie Nice

Title: Constructions of meaning for nature pedagogy by early childhood teachers: Thoughts, Actions, Constraints and Opportunities

Abstract: This thesis presents a comprehensive analysis of nature pedagogy in Australian early childhood education, examining teacher experiences, implementation challenges, and providing strategic recommendations for effective practice, professional development, and clear educational philosophies to foster effective practice.

Doctor of Philosophy
Lauren Matthews

Title: Survival Memories: How artistic representation and naming incest survival could challenge taboos, influence public discourse and ideologies, and contribute to social change through the history and tenacity of textiles

Abstract: Lauren Matthews' research 'Survival Memories', provides a window into Lauren's childhood experiences as an incest victim-survivor and examines how textiles can be a vehicle for remembering, memorialising and agitating.

Doctor of Philosophy
Linda Morella

Title: Patriarchal Control Killings: Paternal filicide in the context of separation in Australia

Abstract: This thesis argues that, during separation, men lose power and control over the mother and opportunities to express masculinity. Paternal filicide is an attempt to regain control.

Doctor of Philosophy
Mohammad Rahman

Title: Enhancing Soil Organic Carbon Estimation via Hyperspectral Dimensionality Reduction

Abstract: Machine learning solutions, comprising two novel band selection algorithms and one adaptive downsampling technique, are developed to enable stable, scalable, and structure-preserving estimation of soil organic carbon from hyperspectral data.

Doctor of Philosophy
Pinyadapat Vacharanukrauh

Title: Breast Cancer and Cardiotoxicity

Abstract: A scoping review, nationwide cohort study, and evidence-based pharmacological interventions.

Doctor of Philosophy
Rabeya Basri

Title: Cybersecurity protection for the internet of things through trustworthiness measures using machine learning

Abstract: Distributed networks are vulnerable to evolving cyberattacks. To address this, we develop AI-based security mechanisms exploiting trust to defend against cyberattacks targeting 'Internet of Things' communication channels and sensor data.

Doctor of Philosophy
Roopdeep Kaur

Title: Image Data Understanding and Preparation

Abstract: Images captured by sensors are affected by environmental and camera impacts. Addressing this issue, we introduce techniques for image denoising and filtering-out poor-quality images for enhancing object recognition accuracy.

Doctor of Philosophy
Rosemary Joiner

Title: A Young adult novella and a critical exegesis exploring the social impact of volunteering: Can Storytelling Seek to Inspire Social Change

Abstract: A creative and critical exploration of how storytelling in young adult fiction can inspire volunteering, using the novella Kristal and Marg to connect literary art with real-world social change.

Doctor of Philosophy
Shingai Mareya

Title: Exploring the effectiveness of the stepped care model in delivering mental health services in Australian primary health care settings

Abstract: This thesis critically examines key stakeholders' experiences of Australia's Stepped Care Model in Primary Mental Health, revealing what is working well, identifying gaps, and recommending structural, funding, and workforce reforms to enhance accessibility, coordination, and person-centred outcomes.

Doctor of Philosophy
Surajit Barman

Title: Numerical Modelling of PyroCb Lightning: predicting striking zones and exploring aerosol effects on electrification

Abstract: This research models lightning from bushfire-driven pyroCb storms, revealing how fire-released aerosol concentrations and wind shear dynamics affect lightning strikes, and evaluating its surge effects on critical power infrastructure.

Doctor of Philosophy
Thai Nguyen

Title: Efficient Memoryless Local Planning for Quadrotor Navigation

Abstract: This thesis pushed the boundaries of autonomous planning and real-time robot navigation. Using raw sensor data rather than pre-built maps, novel techniques enable safe and efficient flying through complex environments.

Doctor of Philosophy
Yongjia Yuan

Title: Optimization-Driven Algorithms for Solving Clustering Problems on Data Streams

Abstract: This thesis develops three optimization-based real-time clustering algorithms for data streams that effectively address challenges such as massive data volumes, noise contamination, outliers, and pairwise constraints while achieving accurate and robust clustering results.

Master of Applied Science
Quazi Rupok

Title: Barramundi Recirculating Aquaculture System (RAS) sludge from aquaculture as a fertiliser

Abstract: This research investigates barramundi Recirculating Aquaculture Sludge (RAS) as a sustainable organic fertiliser and demonstrates its effectiveness in promoting germination, plant growth, and soil fertility compared with commercial alternatives.

Master of Computing
Nabila Ramadhanti

Title: Clinical trial emulation using causal inference for drug repurposing in chronic kidney disease

Abstract: This thesis evaluates propensity score estimation methods for causal inference in observational healthcare data, comparing traditional and ensemble approaches using UK Biobank and simulated dataset.

Master of Engineering Science
Jamie Borg

Title: Wheeled Mobility Device Stability on Public Buses Using Semi-Active Containment Systems

Abstract: This thesis explores how a containment system can enhance wheeled mobility device user safety on public buses, demonstrating stability while emphasising that optimal performance depends on proper system use.

Master of Engineering Science
Muhammad Ghulam Mustafa Siddiqui

Title: Digital twin for risk and uncertainty analysis in complex industrial control and automation systems using artificial intelligence and machine learning

Abstract: An innovative research journey addressing issues related to the digital twin, industrial control systems, anomaly detection, and predictive maintenance. Overcoming challenges, proposing novel solutions, and achieving real-world impact.

CONGRATULATIONS

To all graduates

Today our graduates join a much greater family – as Alumni of a distinguished university with a proud history spanning over 150 years. Federation Alumni members join many thousands of successful graduates since our beginnings in the 1870s, representing not only our past but the future. Alumni have the opportunity to stay involved and express views about the continued development of Federation University.

Alumni membership is free and provides a range of benefits as well as the opportunity for professional development and networking at a local, national and international level. Further information can be found at federation.edu.au/alumni

ACADEMIC REGALIA

Academic gowns distinguish between the university's senior office holders and our graduates. Federation University's Chancellor wears a blue robe that is trimmed with gold and features a gold embroidered frog at the shoulder and gold oak-leaf braid below the arm hole. The Deputy Chancellor and the Vice-Chancellor also wear blue robes, with gold trims and different designs incorporating the gold oak-leaf braid, cord or tassels. The members of the university's Council wear black robes with a stole of gold. Our graduates wear black robes, with either a black trencher cap or bonnet (for professorial doctorate) with stoles, lining or trims in the colour of their discipline.

ACADEMIC PROCESSION MUSIC

Composer's Note

Flight is a fanfare for orchestra composed by Associate Professor Rick Chew, Director of the Arts Academy at Federation University Australia. Rick has an international profile as a composer and his music has been widely performed and broadcast in the UK, Europe, USA and Australia. Commissions include works for the Adelaide Festival, Vienna Festival, Salisbury Cathedral (750th Anniversary commission) English National Opera and Welsh National Opera.

Flight is an uplifting work; a celebration of a moment in time, between the achievement of graduation and the possibilities that lie before you. The piece also speaks to a sense of place and belonging, inspired by the flight of Bunjil, the Wedge-Tailed Eagle; creator spirit of the peoples of the Kulin Nation.

ESQUIRE BEDELL

The Esquire Bedell is a ceremonial officer of the university who presides over the ceremonies for the conferment of degrees. The word is closely related to the archaic Bedel and modern English Beadle and means the one who invites, or calls.

FLAGS

The flags displayed are the Australian flag, with the flags of the Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples placed on either side. Flying the Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander flags is a symbol of respect and demonstrates the university's recognition of First Nation peoples.

THE UNIVERSITY MACE

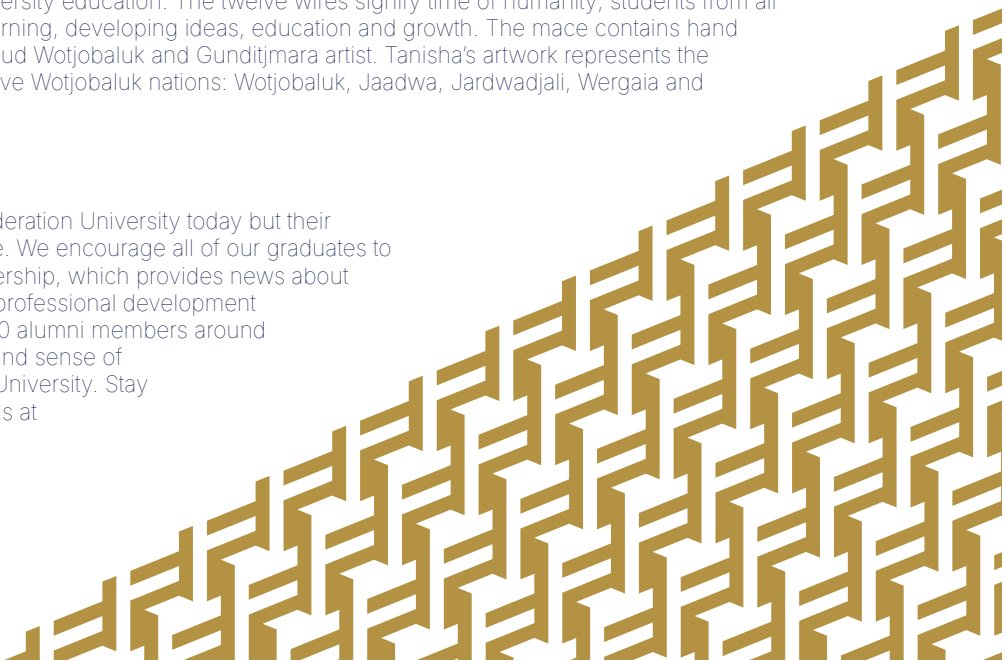

The Mace Bearer traditionally precedes the Chancellor on all formal occasions. A symbol of authority, the mace is traced to an ancient weapon of war. William the Conqueror is seen flourishing a wooden mace in the eleventh-century Bayeux Tapestry. The military use of the mace gradually gave way to its ceremonial function as a symbol of high office.

The original Federation University mace design features a mining poppet head, in reference to the Victorian Gold Rush. The top of the shaft is a surveying device, symbolising precision and accuracy. The handle represents the trunk of the Tree of Knowledge at Mt Helen campus, and incorporates a bark canoe scar, in recognition of the continuity of Aboriginal culture.

In 2022 the University commissioned Ernst Pfenninger, Swiss/Australian Designer, Goldsmith & Silversmith to design and craft a second university Mace. The mace is entirely handmade in solid sterling silver and the concept of the design is based on the core value of university education. The twelve wires signify time of humanity; students from all walks of life passionate about creative learning, developing ideas, education and growth. The mace contains hand engraved artwork by Tanisha Lovett a proud Wotjobaluk and Gunditjmarra artist. Tanisha's artwork represents the Barengi Gadjin (Wimmera river) and the five Wotjobaluk nations: Wotjobaluk, Jaadwa, Jardwadjali, Wergaia and Jupagalk peoples'.

ALUMNI

Our students may be graduating from Federation University today but their connection with Federation lasts a lifetime. We encourage all of our graduates to take advantage of our free alumni membership, which provides news about the university as well as networking and professional development opportunities. We have more than 120,000 alumni members around the world – all with a shared connection and sense of community that is fostered at Federation University. Stay connected and update your contact details at federation.edu.au/alumni.

CHARGE TO THE GRADUATES
