

Live like the locals do and explore the many natural wonders of this regional paradise.

Combining over 50 years of teaching excellence with a commitment to making a positive impact to the lives of others, Federation University Australia's Gippsland Campus offers the best of regional living – a welcoming community, innovative learning environment and excellent research facilities.

Campus facilities

At Gippsland Campus, you'll find dedicated, fully equipped laboratories for nursing, information technology, mechatronics, civil engineering and science courses – giving you the perfect environment to test and learn from real-world scenarios.

The campus also offers lecture theatre and video conferencing facilities, an impressive library and study centre, computing labs, fitness and recreation facilities (both on-campus and within walking distance), student accommodation facilities and a range of dedicated international student support and development services.

Discover Gippsland

Peace and nature with a side of adventure – Gippsland Campus is your gateway to everything Eastern Victoria has to offer.

Located two hours east of Melbourne, you'll discover the campus spread over 60 hectares of picturesque grounds in the regional town of Churchill. Sit in the outdoor amphitheatre watching the sunset, and you may even catch a kangaroo or two hopping across the campus.

If you're someone who loves the outdoors, then you're in luck. The Gippsland region boasts many fun activities such as fishing, hiking, canoeing, swimming, rock climbing, skiing and more. Take new friends, go with a local group or explore on your own – the opportunities are endless.

Make campus your home

Transition to university with ease by opting to stay on-campus in Fedliving housing. Does living within walking distance of campus appeal to you? You'll also attend fun events, feel supported by our residential wellbeing team and get the best start to university life. You may even be eligible for a scholarship towards your Fedliving accommodation.

“I initially chose Federation’s Gippsland Campus because I have family living nearby, but I quickly saw that the teaching quality is great. When I started, I’d only been in Australia a week, but the university staff really welcomed me and made me feel quickly at home. I can’t stop telling people about the excellent student support..”
